

COVID-19 (Coronavirus) Update

We want to assure all our visitors we are actively monitoring the situation and adhering to all guidelines issued by the British Government and Public Health England regarding COVID-19 (Coronavirus) risks.

The safety and wellbeing of all our staff and visitors is our priority, therefore we have put in the additional practices in place:

- Rather than a handshake we will welcome all our guests with a warm smile
- We have well-stocked handwashing facilities with soap, water and paper towels, and signs showing correct handwashing procedures
- We have introduced additional cleaning to our already strict routines
- All staff and volunteers have been issued with clear guidelines around COVID-19 and the workplace
- All our contractors who will be working on site will be asked to sign a declaration form regarding any recent travel and will abide by the same guidelines as staff.

We want to welcome everyone to the Brunel Museum with a warm smile and the reassurance that we have your health in mind, so you can enjoy a wonderful day with your friends and family.
